

Ggm's Amogh Bansal tops Hry in JEE Mains '25

Ishita Singh

ishita.singh@hindustantimes.com

GURUGRAM : Amogh Bansal, a 17-year-old student from Delhi Public School (DPS), Sector 45, Gurugram, has secured an All India Rank (AIR) of 29 in the Joint Entrance Examination (JEE) Mains 2025, emerging as Haryana's state topper with 99.99 percentile.

With this result, Bansal has qualified for admission into the National Institutes of Technology (NITs) and is now preparing for the JEE Advanced exam, scheduled for May 18, in pursuit of his dream to study at one of the Indian Institutes of Technology (IITs). "I feel IITs will give me the environment to grow in the field I love. I am really passionate about coding and computer science," Bansal said.

A calm and focused student, Bansal began preparing for the JEE in Class 9 while managing his school studies. Notably, he topped the city in the Class 10 CBSE board exams with a score of 99.6 per cent, without the aid of any coaching or tuition.

"I usually followed a strict routine. I would start my day around 8am, study for 5 to 6 hours at a stretch, then take a break, have lunch and continue with another 4 to 5 hours in the evening," he said. "There were moments of stress, but I tried to keep things balanced by playing the guitar, basketball, or solving puzzles and Sudoku."

Amogh Bansal

HT PHOTO

Bansal credits his family for playing a crucial role in his academic journey. His mother, Chandni Bansal, an IT professor, left the corporate world to focus on raising her sons. His father, Sachin Bansal, vice president at HSBC Bank, was equally involved despite a demanding job.

"There were days when Amogh felt overwhelmed. We planned things together, made timetables, discussed priorities, and even reviewed what subjects to focus on next. It was always a joint effort," he said.