

REPORT ON DILLI DARSHAN CLASS III

“An educational tour is an important aspect of school learning etched forever in the minds of the young learners.”

Students of Class III went on an educational trip to New Delhi on 9th October'18. They visited Qutub Minar, India Gate, Teen Murti Bhavan and National Rail Musuem. Students enthusiastically boarded the bus as they looked forward to an exciting day out. Their enthusiasm was evident as the children munched on the refreshments served enroute and chatted with their friends.

The first halt was at the majestic Qutub Minar. Children were spell bound by the beauty and architecture of the 73 meters high tower of victory. The little historians couldn't conceal their curiosity and asked many questions as they learned about the history of the breath-taking monument.

The next stopover was at the India Gate. The students listened curiously as they were informed about the importance of this war memorial that was designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens .They were full of admiration for the soldiers guarding the Amar Jawan Jyoti, dedicated to the soldiers who laid their lives in the Indo Pakistan war in 1971.

After a scrumptious lunch at Bikanerwala, the students visited the historically rich Teen Murti Bhawan. Spread over 30 acres, this former residence of the first Prime Minister of India is now a memorial and is synonymous with Pt. Nehru, his contribution to the freedom struggle and his ideals and dreams for the country. Children were inspired as they caught a glimpse into his life.

At the Rail Museum, children observed the different engines and carriages on display. They admired Fairy Queen, the world's oldest working steam locomotive still in operation. They were also astonished to see a fascinating and exotic collection of over hundred real size exhibits of Indian Railways.

It was a wonderful experience for them and they came back full of beautiful memories to remain with them for a long time to come.
